Copa América

Copa América began in 1916 and is the oldest still-running continental men's national-team competition. It was known as the South American Championship until 1975. Its history is less uniform than the World Cup or EURO: some editions crowned a champion by final league table over several months rather than a single tournament, some had no fixed host, and invited teams from outside South America have participated since 1993.

ℹ️ How it works

- CONMEBOL's ten South American national teams compete, sometimes joined by invited guest teams from outside the region since 1993.
- The tournament's format has varied more than any other on this site: some early editions crowned a champion by final league-table standings, others by a home-and-away final, and most editions since the 1990s by a group stage into a knockout bracket.
- Copa América has not always run on a fixed four-year cycle, unlike the World Cup or EURO.

📝 Final venues

Unlike UEFA Nations League, most Copa América editions have no single fixed-venue final to record - the League table era (1916-1967, minus the five playoff deciders below) crowned a champion by final standings across several cities, and the three Home-and-away editions (1975, 1979, 1983) split the decider over two legs in two different countries. This section is scoped to the same 19 editions that already carry a Final date above: the five Final playoff deciders and the 13 Knockout final editions plus the 2016 centenary final, each a single decisive match played at one stadium. A reported attendance figure is added only where it could be confirmed via two independent sources (2011, 2021) - unlike the venue itself, match-day attendance for most other editions could not be reliably cross-checked and is left out rather than guessed.

- 1919: Estádio das Laranjeiras, Rio de Janeiro (Brazil).
- 1922: Estádio das Laranjeiras, Rio de Janeiro (Brazil).

- 1937: Estádio Gasómetro, Buenos Aires (Argentina) - home of San Lorenzo, demolished in 1983.

- 2024: Hard Rock Stadium, Miami Gardens, Florida (United States).

📝 Best Player winners

- CONMEBOL has named a best-player award at every Copa América since 1987; no equivalent award existed at the 32 earlier editions.

- 1999: Rivaldo (Brazil).
- 2001: Amado Guevara (Honduras) - the only winner from a guest nation outside CONMEBOL, on a Honduras team that finished third.
- 2004: Adriano (Brazil).

📝 Golden Boot winners

- The Copa América's top goalscorer at each edition is recorded here as its Golden Boot winner - the same convenience label the site's dedicated Golden Boot page already uses for the FIFA World Cup and UEFA EURO. Unlike the Best Player and Golden Glove awards above, a top scorer can be identified for every edition since the first in 1916, whether or not CONMEBOL held a formal award ceremony for it that year.
- 1916: Isabelino Gradín (Uruguay) - 3 goals - the tournament's first Golden Boot.
- 1917: Ángel Romano (Uruguay) - 4 goals - the first of his two wins.
- 1919: Arthur Friedenreich; Neco (both Brazil) - 4 goals each.

📝 Fair Play Award winners

- CONMEBOL has named a team Fair Play Award, based on each squad's on-field disciplinary record, at every Copa América since 2011 - the same span this page's own Golden Glove award has existed for; no equivalent award existed at earlier editions.
- 2011: Uruguay - the award's first winner, on the team that also won the tournament.
- 2015: Peru.
- 2016: Argentina - Copa América Centenario.
- 2019: Brazil - the tournament's host and eventual champion.
- 2021: Brazil.
- 2024: Colombia - the tournament's runner-up.

📝 Team of the Tournament winners

- CONMEBOL's Technical Study Group has named an official Team of the Tournament (a "Best XI") at every Copa América since 2015, based on player performances across the whole competition. The 2011 edition's own ideal-team reporting was contradictory across sources (rival lists disagreed on as many as half the outfield names), so - the same caution behind this page's own Winning captains scoping - it is excluded rather than shipped unverified.
- 2015: Claudio Bravo (Chile, goalkeeper); Nicolás Otamendi (Argentina), Gary Medel (Chile), Jeison Murillo (Colombia), Marcelo Díaz (Chile), Javier Mascherano (Argentina), Arturo Vidal (Chile), Christian Cueva (Peru), Lionel Messi (Argentina), Paolo Guerrero (Peru), Eduardo Vargas (Chile) - hosts and champions Chile supplied five of the eleven, the most of any team.

- 2016: Claudio Bravo (Chile, goalkeeper); Mauricio Isla (Chile), Nicolás Otamendi (Argentina), Gary Medel (Chile), Jean Beausejour (Chile), Javier Mascherano (Argentina), Arturo Vidal (Chile), Charles Aránguiz (Chile), Lionel Messi (Argentina), Alexis Sánchez (Chile), Eduardo Vargas (Chile) - Copa América Centenario; the two finalists, Chile and Argentina, filled the entire eleven between them, Chile supplying eight.
- 2019: Alisson (Brazil, goalkeeper); Dani Alves (Brazil), Thiago Silva (Brazil), José Giménez (Uruguay), Miguel Trauco (Peru), Arthur (Brazil), Leandro Paredes (Argentina), Arturo Vidal (Chile), James Rodríguez (Colombia), Paolo Guerrero (Peru), Everton (Brazil) - champions Brazil supplied five, the most of any team; Lionel Messi's Argentina was left out entirely.
- 2021: Emiliano Martínez (Argentina, goalkeeper); Pervis Estupiñán (Ecuador), Marquinhos (Brazil), Cristian Romero (Argentina), Mauricio Isla (Chile), Yoshimar Yotún (Peru), Casemiro (Brazil), Rodrigo De Paul (Argentina), Luis Díaz (Colombia), Neymar (Brazil), Lionel Messi (Argentina) - champions Argentina supplied four, the most of any team.
- 2024: Emiliano Martínez (Argentina, goalkeeper); Alistair Johnston (Canada), Cristian Romero (Argentina), Davinson Sánchez (Colombia), Piero Hincapié (Ecuador), Rodrigo De Paul (Argentina), Manuel Ugarte (Uruguay), James Rodríguez (Colombia), Lionel Messi (Argentina), Lautaro Martínez (Argentina), Raphinha (Brazil) - champions Argentina supplied five, the most of any team.
- Lionel Messi is the only player named in four of the five editions on this list, missing only 2019, when the selection panel left him out entirely despite Argentina reaching that tournament's semifinals. Claudio Bravo (2015 and 2016, both as champion with Chile) and Emiliano Martínez (2021 and 2024, both as champion with Argentina) are the only goalkeepers named in consecutive editions.

📝 Winning managers

- Every Copa América-winning team has had a manager, but two independent research passes in earlier intensive-development runs found contradictory manager names for several editions in the 1916-1924 span of the old South American Championship era, so this section is deliberately scoped to the tournament's post-1975 editions - the year it adopted the Copa América name and its modern home-and-away/knockout formats, where sourcing is reliably cross-confirmed. The pre-1975 span is left out rather than risk an unverified name.
- 1975: Marcos Calderón (Peru).
- 1979: Ranulfo Miranda (Paraguay).
- 1983: Omar Borrás (Uruguay).
- 1987: Roberto Fleitas (Uruguay).
- 1989: Sebastião Lazaroni (Brazil).

- 1991: Alfio Basile (Argentina) - the first of his two consecutive title-winning editions.
- 1993: Alfio Basile (Argentina) - his second, back-to-back.
- 1995: Héctor Núñez (Uruguay).
- 1997: Mário Zagallo (Brazil) - also won the FIFA World Cup as Brazil's manager in 1970 and as a player in 1958 and 1962.
- 1999: Vanderlei Luxemburgo (Brazil).
- 2001: Francisco Maturana (Colombia) - Colombia's only Copa América title, won undefeated.
- 2004: Carlos Alberto Parreira (Brazil) - also won the FIFA World Cup as Brazil's manager in 1994.
- 2007: Dunga (Brazil).
- 2011: Óscar Tabárez (Uruguay).
- 2015: Jorge Sampaoli (Chile) - Chile's first title.
- 2016: Juan Antonio Pizzi (Chile) - Copa América Centenario, Chile's second consecutive title.
- 2019: Tite (Brazil).
- 2021: Lionel Scaloni (Argentina) - the first of his two consecutive title-winning editions.
- 2024: Lionel Scaloni (Argentina) - his second, back-to-back.
- Alfio Basile and Lionel Scaloni are the only managers on this list to win back-to-back editions with Argentina.

📝 Winning captains

- The captain is the player who lifts the trophy on the podium. Unlike the "Winning managers" section above, which is reliably sourced back to 1975, captain identification proved a materially harder fact to source for this competition: an earlier research pass found the whole 1975-2010 span too unreliable to ship, after independent cross-checks directly contradicted two editions it had first logged as confirmed. A later, more rigorous pass - cross-checking every edition against at least two independent sources, the same bar every other note section on this page uses - recovered ten of those thirteen editions, and two further passes resolved the rest: 1983 (Rodolfo Rodríguez - his own biography and a dedicated history of Uruguay's national-team captains both independently confirm he held the armband for the whole 1980-1986 span, this title included, resolving the earlier pass's "key player, not confirmed as captain" caution), 1987 (José Perdomo - the earlier pass's "sources disagree on who was even sent off" turned out to have a simple explanation: both he and Enzo Francescoli were sent off in that final, at different minutes, but only Perdomo wore the armband and returned to the podium to lift the trophy), and 1979 (Aldo Florentín - Paraguay's regular captain, Hugo Talavera, was controversially benched by the federation president just before the deciding match over an unrelated dispute; his own biography and independent Paraguayan press coverage of the trophy presentation both confirm Florentín wore the armband and received the Copa in his place), closing this section's last remaining gap.

- 1975: Héctor Chumpitaz (Peru) - nicknamed "Capitán de América" for his two decades leading the national team; also captained Peru at the 1970 and 1978 FIFA World Cups.
- 1979: Aldo Florentín (Paraguay) - stepped into the armband after regular captain Hugo Talavera was controversially benched by the federation president just before the series decider; lifted the trophy after the tied two-legged final against Chile was settled by a third match.
- 1983: Rodolfo Rodríguez (Uruguay) - the team's starting goalkeeper and national-team captain throughout 1980-1986; lifted the trophy after the two-legged final against Brazil was decided 3-1 on points.
- 1987: José Perdomo (Uruguay) - sent off himself in the 88th minute of the final (Enzo Francescoli had also been sent off earlier, in the 27th minute) but still returned to receive the trophy as captain after Uruguay's 1-0 win over Chile.
- 1989: Ricardo Gomes (Brazil) - went on to captain Brazil again at the 1990 FIFA World Cup.
- 1991: Oscar Ruggeri (Argentina) - the first of his two consecutive title-winning editions.
- 1993: Oscar Ruggeri (Argentina) - his second, back-to-back, scoring in the final itself.
- 1995: Enzo Francescoli (Uruguay) - his third and final Copa América title, though it was Pablo Bengoechea's late equalizer that forced the penalty shootout Uruguay went on to win.
- 1997: Dunga (Brazil) - Brazil's first title won away from home soil.
- 1999: Cafu (Brazil) - the same armband he wore to a World Cup title three years later, earning him Brazil's nickname "Capitão do Penta" (captain of the fifth World Cup star).
- 2001: Iván Córdoba (Colombia) - scored the only goal of the final himself, Colombia's only Copa América title.
- 2004: Alex (Brazil) - also set a tournament assists record that edition.
- 2007: Lúcio (Brazil).
- 2011: Diego Lugano (Uruguay) - wore the armband in all six of Uruguay's matches, lifting the trophy after a 3-0 final win over Paraguay.
- 2015: Claudio Bravo (Chile) - the first of his two title-winning editions as captain, saving a penalty in the final shootout against Argentina.

- 2016: Claudio Bravo (Chile) - his second, back-to-back, Copa América Centenario.
- 2019: Dani Alves (Brazil) - given the armband by manager Tite after Neymar was stripped of the captaincy following an off-field incident.
- 2021: Lionel Messi (Argentina) - the first of his two consecutive title-winning editions, his first major trophy with the senior Argentina team.
- 2024: Lionel Messi (Argentina) - his second, back-to-back, though an injury forced him off before the trophy lift.
- Oscar Ruggeri, Claudio Bravo and Lionel Messi are the only captains on this list to win back-to-back editions - Bravo as a goalkeeper, a rarer position for the honor.
