

Men's Ballon d'Or

France Football created the Ballon d'Or in 1956. Eligibility rules changed over time: the award was initially limited to European players, opened to players of any nationality at European clubs in 1995, and became fully global in 2007. From 2010 through 2015 it was presented jointly with FIFA.

How it works

- The Ballon d'Or honors the best individual men's player of the year - it is not a team competition or a national-team trophy.

- A panel of football journalists, one from each eligible country, ranks their top players; the votes are combined into one final ranking.
- Eligibility has widened over time: Europe-only at first, then any nationality at a European club from 1995, then fully global since 2007 (see the introduction above).
- The winner is announced at an end-of-year ceremony organized by France Football magazine.

Memorable moments

- Stanley Matthews won the first-ever Ballon d'Or in 1956.
- George Weah became the first African player to win the Ballon d'Or in 1995.
- Kaká won the 2007 Ballon d'Or, the first year the award opened to any nationality at any club worldwide.
- Lionel Messi won the first of his eight Ballon d'Or titles in 2009, more than any other player in the award's history.
- Luka Modrić became the only Croatian winner of the Ballon d'Or in 2018.
- The 2020 Ballon d'Or was the only edition since the award's creation in 1956 not to be presented.

Notes

- Lev Yashin remains the only goalkeeper to win the men's award.
- George Weah became the first African winner in 1995.
- Luka Modrić won in 2018.
- The 2020 award was cancelled.
- Ousmane Dembélé won the 2025 award.
